

Swissquote expands cryptocurrency offering

Swissquote, Switzerland's leading online bank, is expanding its offer with nine new cryptocurrencies. In addition to the leading twelve cryptocurrencies, investors can now also trade Cardano, Filecoin, Maker, Uniswap and yearn.finance. A further four cryptocurrencies will follow at the end of the month: Aave, Algorand, Compound and Cosmos. With a total of 21 tradable virtual currencies, Swissquote is the bank with the most comprehensive offering for cryptocurrency trading in Switzerland.

The cryptocurrencies Cardano (ADA), Filecoin (FIL), Maker (MKR), Uniswap (UNI) and yearn.finance (YFI) are now available for trading. At the end of this month, Swissquote's cryptocurrency universe will be further expanded with Aave (AAVE), Algorand (ALGO), Compound (COMP) and Cosmos (ATOM). Clients can invest with EUR or USD easily, securely and on advantageous terms via their trading account. Client demand and the liquidity available for trading were the key factors in the selection of these new cryptocurrencies.

Swissquote is thus building on its position as a pioneer in cryptocurrency trading. The bank first offered private clients the opportunity to trade in cryptocurrencies in July 2017, and since then the offering has been continuously expanded. The cryptocurrency trading business has exceeded Swissquote's expectations and has become an important source of income. In March 2021, Swissquote had no less than CHF 1.8 billion in client crypto assets under custody. Swissquote's offering for institutional clients wanting to enter the professional world of crypto trading and make use of custodian bank services is likewise being expanded on an ongoing basis.
